

Global food production and consumption are the single largest human pressures on nature.

Raising awareness and embracing more sustainable diets by giving youth an active role at the core of the project.

